An upward trend in some of the items of daily use, such as rice, wheat, tur and edible oils has mainly been on account of inadequate domestic availability relative to demand and increase in the international prices. Higher minimum support price may have also contributed to the price rise. In the context of discussions regarding whether and to what extent futures trading has contributed to price rise in agricultural commodities in recent times, the Government has set up an Expert Committee on March 2, 2007 under the Chairmanship of Prof. Abhijit Sen, Member, Planning Commission to study, inter alia, the extent of impact, if any, of futures trading on wholesale and retail prices of agricultural commodities. The report is awaited. Futures contract, however, for tur, urad, wheat and rice already stand delisted.
